Mike’s Story

My first experience with Al Sigl was attending CP Rochester’s preschool program. My involvement came full circle when I turned 16 and I was looking to get my driver’s license. My high school counselor suggested Rochester Rehabilitation’s DriveOn program. They helped me learn to drive and determine which adaptations my car needed. That experience in particular changed my entire view of what was possible. The sense of independence I felt getting my license helped me focus on a future where disability didn’t matter.

I have a twin brother who does not have Arthrogryposis, or a stiffness in the joints. You would never notice the difference between us.

Al Sigl helped me find the opportunities I needed to grow and pursue my goals, including having a successful career. My mom was an accountant and I’ve always liked numbers. I considered teaching but it was accounting where I found my calling. Now as an adult, I think it’s important to give back because of the help I received.

I want kids of all abilities to see adults with disabilities who are making their own choices in life and say, ‘I can do that too. I don’t have to fit a mold. I can be independent. I can have a career. I can volunteer and contribute.’

I credit Al Sigl and especially my family for teaching me early on in life that a disability is not an impediment. That lesson has stayed with me.

Every year more and more people turn to Al Sigl Member Agencies for help and support as they work to reach their goals. I hope you will join me in making a gift today to recognize their achievements and encourage us all to envision a future full of possibilities.

Howdy Neighbors

Nearly four years ago, Mary Walsh Boatfield invited me to join her to tour an existing autism program in a neighboring state. On the ride home started a plan for an unprecedented new partnership. The idea was to transform existing service models, to expand the scope of what was considered possible. The goal was offering families a comprehensive lifetime span of services by providers working collaboratively under one roof.

With an overwhelming jumpstart from Tom Golisano and the Golisano Foundation and terrific community support, founders Al Sigl Community, AutismUp and CP Rochester opened the doors to this amazing new resource for area families in September.

There was a small but dedicated army involved in planning how the Center’s multi-purpose spaces would accommodate such a large number of programs. Guiding the design teams were conversations about sensitivity to colors and sounds, and planning transitional pathways to make navigation easy—all while creating a safe, welcoming environment. From January’s frozen tundra through the hazy days of summer, there were 193 working days with over 30 subcontractors and an average of 55 daily workers dedicated to making the space ready.

During construction, it was interesting to learn how many workers talked about how pleased they were to be part of creating a new space serving people on the spectrum and their families. Over rolls of carpet and cans of paint, they shared their own connection to someone receiving services or in need of support.

In November, friends gathered once again at the Golisano Autism Center to celebrate our shared mission. Surrounded by Member Agency leaders, board volunteers, and good friends representing each of our Member Agencies on our six campuses, I was reminded of our collaboration’s earliest days.

Our Founding Board Chair, Justin Vigdor, and others devoted years to creating a new model of how independent agencies could work together. Over 55 years that vision has been affirmed, strengthened and grown.

Last year, we celebrated the 50th Anniversary of our first campus on Elmwood Avenue. This year continues the journey of our newest campus, a model that will be a beacon of hope and positively impact lives for generations.

Thank you for being part of our story. Thank you for joining us in celebration of our shared history, ever changing needs and innovative ways to achieve more together.

Wishing you and your loved ones safe and healthy holidays,

Thomas O’Connor

Celebrating 100 Years On The Move

This May, Medical Motor Service opened up the doors to its headquarters on Clinton Avenue South for a one-of-a-kind anniversary celebration and reception in the agency's fleet maintenance facility for friends and community partners. Guests had the chance to tour the agency and talk with staff. The celebration recognized the many ways the nonprofit helps thousands in our community remain active, stay connected, and live more independently.

The organization first began serving the community in 1919 during an influenza epidemic. Dozens of women drivers volunteered to transport doctors and nurses in support of local Red Cross efforts. Over the years, the effort expanded to serve area hospitals, clinics and social service agencies. In 1968, the nonprofit became a founding partner of the Al Sigl Community of Agencies.

While community needs have changed a lot in the last 100 years, Medical Motor Service has remained constant in its dedication to providing safe and accessible transportation to people of all ages with specialized needs. The spirit of the organization’s early volunteers lives on today in the more than 200 agency professional employees. To learn more, please visit medicalmotors.org or call 585.654.7030.

Staying On the Move After a Stroke

Marc’s life took an unexpected turn in 2014 when a stroke resulted in limited mobility and disuse of his left side. He received clinical services through Rochester Rehabilitation to help with these challenges. Marc, a dedicated father of three and avid outdoorsman who enjoyed hunting, kayaking, and cycling, was referred to SportsNet, an adaptive sport and recreation program. SportsNet is a collaboration between CP Rochester, Rochester Rehabilitation, and Al Sigl Community of Agencies.

Through SportsNet, Marc has been able to try paddling and cycling using a recumbent bike with three wheels for extra stability. He has been pleased with the support he has received through SportsNet calling it, “a great program with helpful and knowledgeable staff.”

Accessible Family Dental Center Recognized

This year, CP Rochester’s Family Dental Center (FDC) received the Henry Schein Cares Medal for “Best in Class”. The award recognizes excellence in expanding access for underserved groups, including people with developmental, intellectual, and acquired disabilities. Mary Walsh Boatfield, president and CEO of CP Rochester, said, “Throughout our history, we have worked tirelessly to ensure that our patients have access to the care they need to live long, healthy, and happy lives, and oral healthcare is a core element of that mission.”

Among the first of its kind, CP Rochester opened the FDC in 2008 in response to the high rate of periodontal and gum disease for people with special needs due to lack of accessible providers. The FDC’s fully-accessible facility offers a ceiling track/lift system, specialized dental chairs, state-of-the-art equipment including a panoramic x-ray machine, and highly-skilled clinical staff. The convenient location on Al Sigl’s Golisano Campus at Elmwood Avenue welcomes patients with and without special needs. To learn more, please visit cprochester.org or call 585.402.7448.
Susan was diagnosed with MS in 1980, but that has not stopped her from being an active volunteer for the National MS Society in Upstate NY. Susan has participated in events including Bike MS and Walk MS. She has also been a long time participant and facilitator of self-help groups for people living with MS and has represented the Society at community events. It was this connection that led her to participate as a volunteer in the Fall 2019 IdeaLab at RIT.

At IdeaLab, eight student teams met over one weekend to brainstorm solutions to access challenges suggested by Al Sigl Member Agency program participants. Susan partnered with students working to create a reusable device to serve as an alternative to disposable plastic straws for people with mobility challenges.

ThermApparel cooling vests are the result of a 2015 IdeaLab project. Heat can worsen symptoms for people with MS; existing vests were too costly and bulky for most activities. Students built various prototypes and eventually launched a company. Today their ThermApparel vests are worn in 13 countries. Cooper’s Story

What makes Cooper inspirational is his tenacity and determination while learning to cope with Dyspraxia, Apraxia, and Sensory Processing Disorder. Imagine being a small child trying to take in and process the world with all of its stimuli and not being equipped to communicate back. All of this was both frightening and exhausting leaving his mother, Meghan asking, “So, what do you do as a parent?” She needed to find the very best team, not only to help Cooper grow and learn new skills, but also to teach him how to cope within his world and provide him with the tools to deal with his unique challenges.

Rochester Hearing and Speech Center assessed Cooper’s speech-language development, and cognitive and adaptive skills; which resulted in a need for speech services and physical therapy. Cooper’s enrollment in both the Early Intervention and Preschool programs has allowed him to make great leaps and bounds over the past two and a half years.

Cooper is now well prepared for the next chapter of his life. This is especially due to the collaboration of all his therapists. Says Meghan, “What his therapists provided was nothing short of magic!” To learn more about RHSC’s programs for people of all ages, please visit RHSC.org or call 585.271.0680.

In addition to Guidotti’s photographs, the gallery exhibition featured paintings by Elroy Blue and Taylor Hale, a painter who was born with cerebral palsy and congenital sensory neuropathy.

“What can I do to help?” This was the question posed by the Founders of the Al Sigl Golf Classic. On Monday, June 10th, nearly 400 friends gathered at Midvale Country Club for the 50th Annual Democrat and Chronicle Al Sigl Sports Classic. Dr. Dan Caccamise, Honorary Co-Chair and one of the volunteers who helped organize the first Sports Classic golf tournament, spoke at the celebration dinner. The event raised over $140,000 to benefit Al Sigl Member Agencies. We are deeply grateful to our sponsors, golfers, and volunteers for continuing this tradition of caring and celebrating abilities.

Al Sigl’s Annual Tennis Benefit took place on August 17th-18th. The event, which raised over $27,000, kicked off with a Draw Party and Pro/Am Exhibition at the Tennis Club of Rochester. The next day, 72 players gathered at Midtown Athletic Club for the sold out tournament. The growth of the event is due to many dedicated volunteers, motivated by a love for the game, seeking ways to introduce friends to Al Sigl Community of Agencies’ collaborative mission.

Why We Give

One Family’s Connection

People often tell us how they give to Al Sigl Community because of the care and support a friend or relative received on our campuses or how our namesake, newsman Al Sigl, always helped others in need. Recently, Jack and Betty Gaffney, longtime donors, shared their story.

Jack recalls, “I remember when Al Sigl was on the radio. He had the squeakiest voice you ever heard. After we had gotten married and had kids, we heard about the JustOne campaign and donated each year.” In 2005, when their daughter Karen began serving as Vice President of the Al Sigl Foundation, Jack and Betty learned more about the many ways gifts like theirs made a difference in the lives of thousands of children and adults in our community taking part in Al Sigl Member Agency programs.

Karen was a tireless advocate for collaboration and inclusion who brought out the best in her colleagues and friends. She led by example through her own philanthropy. When Karen lost her battle with cancer in 2013, more than 150 people made gifts to Al Sigl in her memory.

Touched by the number of people who chose to recognize Karen’s life, Jack and Betty began to recognize others. “Not especially large gifts,” Jack says, “It became our way of honoring and remembering friends who had passed.” He adds, “We think of it as one small way to share comfort during a difficult time.”

Betty says, “There are probably people that think I can’t give a large amount so it won’t make a difference, but we know EVERY gift is appreciated.” She adds, “We often hear from family members who received the card noting our gift in memory of their loved one that they are glad we chose Al Sigl.”

Jack and Betty also know their donation will be invested well, and they both appreciate that the funds will stay in the community. All of us at Al Sigl are deeply honored that Jack and Betty Gaffney hold our work together close to their wonderful hearts.
